Message from your KWOA President

I am honored that in April the Kentucky Woodland Owners Association board of directors elected me as the organization's new President. I have been a Kentucky woodland owner for the past 15 years and have been a KWOA board member and officer for the past several years. I am excited about the opportunity to help continue the progress made by my predecessors.

We are very fortunate that four of the former presidents are still active as officers or board members. Joe Ball and Don Girton continue to refine the strategic plan for KWOA. They have encouraged a more active effort to communicate to public officials the economic and environmental benefits that woodlands provide to the general public. Dr. Jim Corum is leading efforts to bring Kentucky's tax assessment guidelines for managed woodlands in line with financial reality. Henry Duncan, the immediate past president, is active on a number of fronts, including representing KWOA on several committees.

KWOA co-sponsored three Woodland Owners Short Courses, in Owensboro on August 10, in Vanceburg on August 17 and in Lexington on September 21. These are Saturday educational sessions that connect landowners with professionals who can help them achieve their management goals.

In addition, KWOA sponsored a booth at the Kentucky Forest Industries Association's 2013 Kentucky Wood Expo, September 20-21 at Masterson Station Park in Lexington. This was a fun and educational family event that included programs and activities targeted to forest landowners as well as the general wood products industry. There were numerous exhibits of industry products as well as a lumberjack competition.

Plans for the 2014 annual meeting are under way. It will convene March 31 – April 1 at Pine Mountain State Resort Park. Look for further details on the website and in the winter newsletter.

KWOA strives to offer services and activities that best suit the needs of the diverse membership base. If you have suggestions for changes, or any comments about KWOA, we would like to hear them. New ideas are welcome. As an all-volunteer organization, we are always looking for people who are interested in becoming involved. Contact me at therentz@fuse.net or 513-535-8776.

UK - Center for Forest and Wood Certification: A positive experience for woodland owners

After reading a recent article in the National Woodland Owners magazine, I thought it wise as a naïve woodland owner to research the pros and cons of certifying our timber in Bell County. I met with the University Of Kentucky Department of Forestry's expert on certification, Christopher Reeves, the Forest Section Administrator for the Center for Forest and Wood Certification.

In our discussion, I concluded that, even with the current depressed market, there were advantages for us to pursue certifying our timber. The application process does require a fair amount of requirements that one needs to meet in order to have your forest certified. Like many of you, the good news is that we have already addressed them. We have a stewardship/conservation plan in effect. We have participated in two federal programs (EQIP, WHIP). We have established a management plan complete with recommendations from a consulting forester and conducted a timber survey.

All I had to do was fill out a simple application and schedule a walk-through on the property. My initial cost was $200 with a subsequent annual fee of $75 but the costs vary based upon the size of the property. Nothing is binding and I can sever the relationship with a simple notification.

The Center maintains a web-site (www.forest-certificationcenter.org) listing the owners who have gone through the process of certification that is readily available to any market seeking certified wood. The Center for Forest and Wood Certification is providing this opportunity as a service to the state's woodland owners.

My experience has been very positive and I would recommend other woodland owners interested in certification contact the CFWC (info@forestcertificationcenter.org or toll-free 855.579.2690)—it may be a good option for you.

KWOA 2014 Outstanding Forester Award

Kentucky Division of Forestry (KDF) Service Foresters are stationed in five regions across Kentucky. These service foresters are the first line of support for Kentucky woodland owners who have a desire and need to manage their woodlands. 160,000+ woodland owners have 10 acres or more located throughout the state. The service forester's workload is demanding and important to woodland owners.

Kentucky Woodland Owners Association will recognize a KDF Service Forester for his/her outstanding achievements. Nominations may be made by any KWOA member and are due no later than February 1st of each year.

KDF will review the top three applications for accuracy and notify the KWOA awards committee for the selection. This recognition will not automatically be awarded each year if applicants do not meet KWOA selection standards.

The winning recipient and a guest will be invited to the KWOA annual meeting where the recognition and a plaque will be presented. Previous award recipients are Steve Gray (2011), Kevin Galloway (2012) and Robert Bean (2013).

Please take a look at the application guidelines below and consider nominating your service forester for the 2014 award!

Nomination Guidelines:

Purpose:

To recognize outstanding accomplishments of Service Foresters employed with the Kentucky Division of Forestry. The applicant should have not received this award for the past three years. Nominations may be submitted by any KWOA Member.

Suggested format and guidelines for nominations:

1. Entries may be typed or handwritten. Limit the award entry to 2 pages, one side only, plus 1-2 pages, one side only, of supportive information, i.e., letter(s) of support, news articles, pictures, etc. Additional pages beyond this description will not be considered. The nomination may be submitted in an electronically Word file prepared format if desired.
2. Consideration for the service award will be the demonstrated overall professionalism, the volume of work, the relationship with the woodland owner, the responsiveness to requests and the sustained excellence over a period of time.
3. Include in the application:
  - Full name, current address and title plus email address of nominee
  - Name, contact information of the one preparing the nomination
4. Other considerations, if available. Work history, achievements that particularly relate to success in working with Kentucky Woodland Owners: who benefited and what were the impacts. Additional contributions made to forestry including work on committees, task forces, and leadership positions.
5. Summary Statements of Support: Concise, well-written, easy-to-read narrative summary statement (50-75 words).
6. TIME PERIOD:
Entries are due by February 1st. Although forestry programs often require more than one year to complete, the major accomplishments being considered should have been realized during the past three years.
7. Submit applications by February 1 to Karen Marshall, KWOA editor: editor@kwoa.net
3740 Kwy 330, Owenton, KY 40359; 502-484-0332.

This May Be Your Last Issue

The KWOA newsletter is not going out of business but your subscription may if you have not renewed it. Take a moment to renew your KWOA membership and continue receiving the newsletter in your mailbox. Thanks for your continued support. We look forward to your participation in 2014.

KWOA gears up for trial on property tax assessments

The KWOA Board of Directors legal team continues to prepare for its appearance before the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals on January 21, 2014 regarding unfair property tax assessments of woodland owners. See the August 2013 special edition of your newsletter for background on the appeal. That issue is also posted on the website.

KWOA members are encouraged to attend the trial in Frankfort on January 21st. They are also encouraged to make a financial contribution to this effort. If you haven't already done so, please see the Special Edition for further information on this issue and how to support it or contact Jim Corum at 606-337-8115. This is a effort practice that affects all woodlands owners, not just those who have worked so hard to bring revisions to this point.

Waterfalls of Kentucky

October 22

Tom Barnes, Wildlife Extension Professor
Description: Kentucky is blessed with an abundance of water and it has been reported, but unverified, that we have more miles of freshwater streams than any other state except Alaska. Because of this abundance of water, Kentucky has 30% of the freshwater fish species found in North America, 35% of the freshwater mussels found in this country, and 10% of the crayfish species. We also have a large number of waterfalls ranging from the Niagara of the south, Cumberland Falls to smaller ones like Cummins Ferry Falls to unique ones like the tufa formation in Fayette County called Elk Lick Falls. This webinar will showcase more than 150 of Kentucky's most scenic waterfalls and will follow a general discussion of waterfall classification and how waterfalls are formed.

Waterfowl Identification

November 5

Tom Barnes, Wildlife Extension Professor
Description: With waterfowl season fast approaching, this webinar will cover the field identification characteristics of Kentucky's ducks and geese. For hunters it will serve as an update on their identification skills and for bird watchers it will aid in what characteristics to look for when identifying waterfowl. For the average citizen it will showcase the variety and diversity of waterfowl that visit our state.

Selling Timber

November 12

Jeff Stringer, Forestry Extension Professor
Description: Participants will be provided up-to-date information on how to maximize timber revenues while protecting and improving their woodlands. Topics include how to sell your timber to maximize revenue and minimize taxes, how to use consultants and the Kentucky Division of Forestry to your advantage, selecting loggers and other important topics.
